LIP: Learning Improvement Program

Learning Improvement Program (LIP) conducted in collaboration with APSCHE-BCDE-UNICEF and the Prerana Mitra App installation for student interns and community service projects:

The Learning Improvement Program (LIP), a collaborative initiative between APSCHE-BCDE-UNICEF, aimed to enhance the learning experience of students through practical engagement. As a part of this program, students involved in internships and community service projects at selected schools were provided with valuable opportunities for growth and contribution.

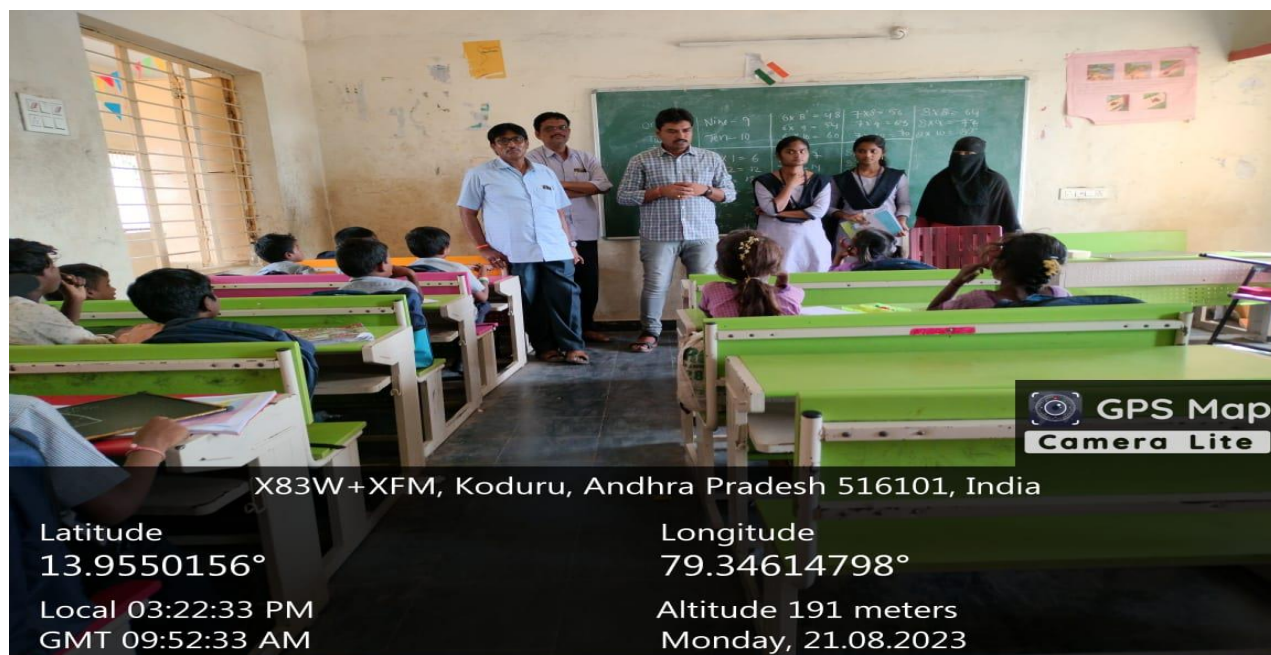

To streamline the program's implementation and monitor its effectiveness, the Prerana Mitra App was introduced. Each student participating in internships and community service projects was required to install this app. The app not only facilitated communication and coordination but also served as a platform for various program-related activities.

A significant aspect of the program's execution was the visit by the BCDE University coordinator. During this visit, interactions were held with the participating children, students engaged in internships, and the school headmasters. The coordinator's presence allowed for firsthand observation of attendance, engagement levels, and the overall impact of the program.

To ensure the program's success, consistent follow-ups were conducted by the coordinator. These follow-ups were aimed at maintaining an effective implementation of the Learning Improvement Program and gauging the outcomes achieved. The Prerana Mitra App played a pivotal role in facilitating these regular check-ins and fostering a cohesive environment among all stakeholders involved.

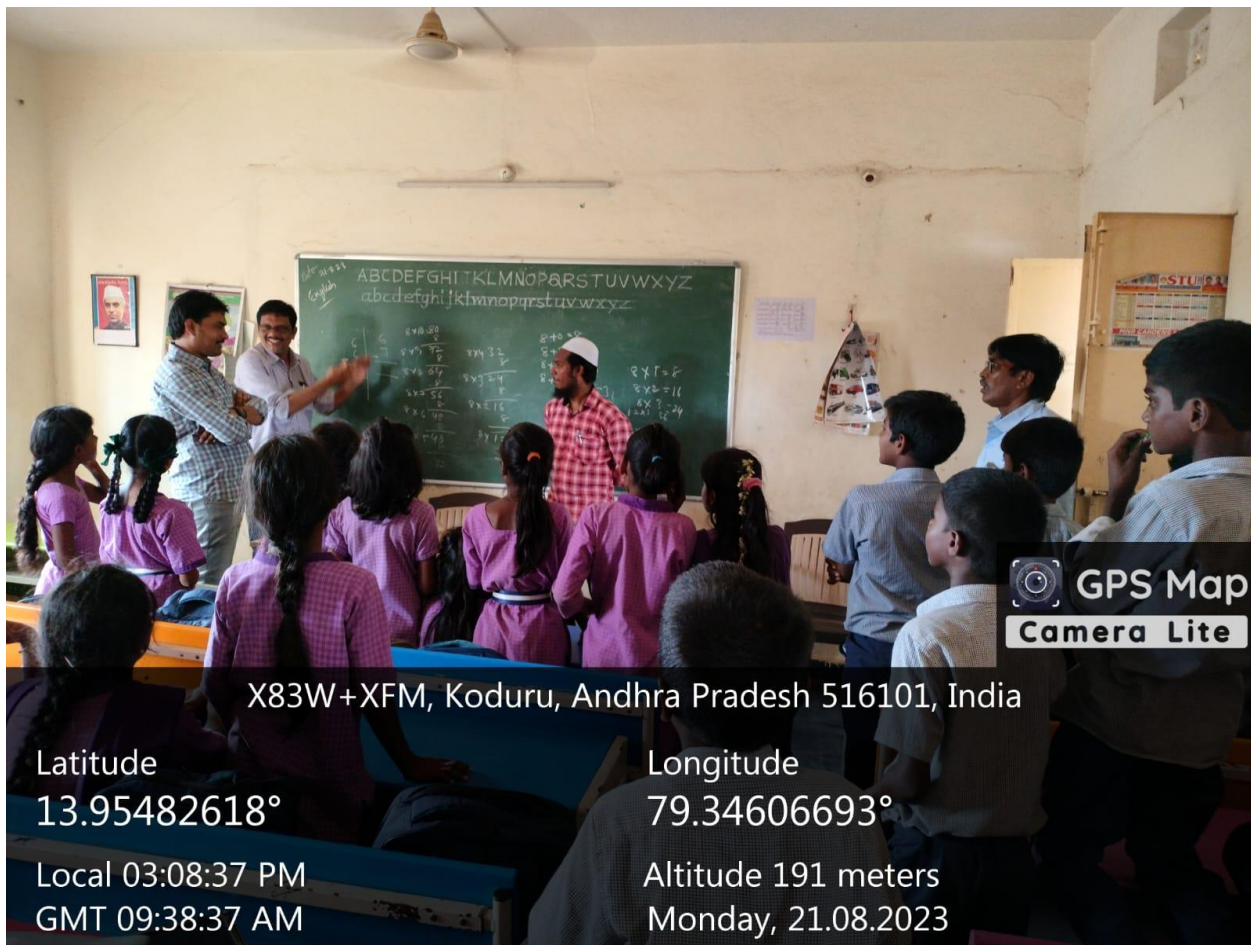

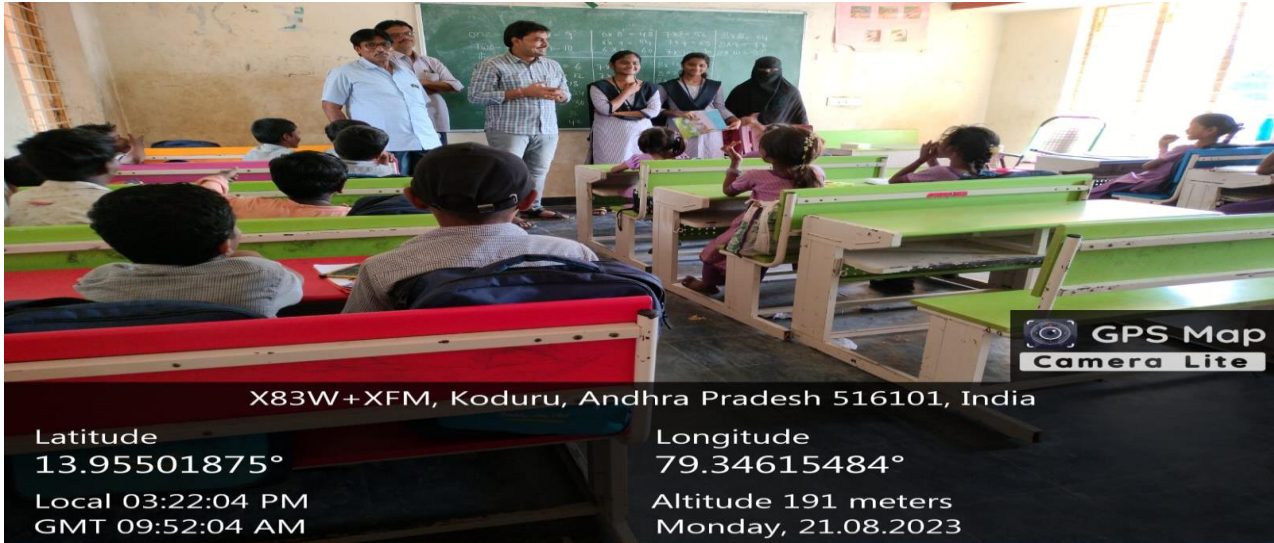

This collaborative effort not only demonstrated a commitment to education but also highlighted the significance of practical learning experiences and community engagement. The Learning Improvement Program, supported by the Prerana Mitra App and the active involvement of APSCHE-BCDE-UNICEF, stood as a testament to the dedication towards fostering a holistic learning environment for students.

LIP-CSP- Schools Visit:

Learning Improvement Program (LIP) Conducted in Collaboration with APSCHE-BCDE-UNICEF and the Sikshana Foundations(Prerana Mitra App )Installation for Student Interns and Community Service Projects

The Learning Improvement Program (LIP), a collaborative initiative between APSCHE, BCDE, and UNICEF, aimed to enhance the learning experience of students through practical engagement. As a part of this program, students involved in internships and community service projects at selected schools were provided with valuable opportunities for growth and contribution.

To streamline the program's implementation and monitor its effectiveness, the Prerana Mitra App was introduced. Each student participating in internships and community service projects was required to install this app. The app not only facilitated communication and coordination but also served as a platform for various program-related activities.

A significant aspect of the program's execution was the visit by the BCDE University coordinator. During this visit, interactions were held with the participating children, students engaged in internships, and the school headmasters. The coordinator's presence allowed for firsthand observation of attendance, engagement levels, and the overall impact of the program.

To ensure the program's success, consistent follow-ups were conducted by the coordinator. These follow-ups aimed to maintain an effective implementation of the Learning Improvement Program and gauge the outcomes achieved. The Prerana Mitra App played a pivotal role in facilitating these regular check-ins and fostering a cohesive environment among all stakeholders involved.

This year, I observed more awareness of this program and its effective implementation by schools and colleges supporting each other. This collaborative effort not only demonstrated a commitment to education but also highlighted the significance of practical learning experiences and community engagement. The Learning Improvement Program, supported by the Prerana Mitra App and the active involvement of APSCHE, BCDE, and UNICEF, stood as a testament to the dedication towards fostering a holistic learning environment for students.

Awareness Project – Prevention of Dengue

As per the instructions from the BCDE Secretary, all colleges have been informed about the BCDE Awareness Project focused on the prevention of dengue. This initiative aims to educate and engage students in proactive measures to combat the spread of dengue.

Most of the colleges are actively participating in this program, which involves organizing awareness campaigns, workshops, and community outreach activities. The goal is to disseminate crucial information on dengue prevention, such as eliminating mosquito breeding sites, promoting the use of mosquito repellents, and encouraging early medical consultation in case of symptoms.

This collective effort underscores the importance of community involvement and education in preventing the spread of dengue, showcasing the commitment of educational institutions to public health and student well-being.
